

The Crown and Open Bible

The Crown is the emblem of victory, honor, sovereignty, and the sign of royalty. Thus, in Christian Symbolism, it refers to Jesus Christ.

The Open Bible of course refers to God's Word. It is important to know that if it is closed, it is like any other book. But when it is opened and read, it can inspire and uplift us and tell us the Story of Salvation.

Anchor and Descending Dove

The Anchor is the symbol of hope. The top part of the anchor is shaped like a cross, showing Christ, our anchor, our hope. (Hebrews 6:19)

The Descending Dove represents peace and purity and is a symbol of the Holy Spirit.

The Alpha and Omega, The Ivy and the Harp

The Alpha and Omega are the first and last letters of the Greek Alphabet. They recall these words from (Revelation 21:6, "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end.")

The Harp symbolizes all music that glorifies Almighty God and the Ivy symbolizes life. When used in this combined way, they refer to the Total Life in God, both in the flesh and in the spirit.

Custom-made Angels

Angels hanging above the sanctuary doors were created, designed, and donated by Susan Murray.

"The Lord keeps watch over you as you come and go, both now and forever." Psalm 121:8
